- I have read and promise to follow the Advisor guidelines outlined in the Standards & Practices Manual. I understand I don't have to teach every skill to every person I serve, but will teach the universal principles and any additional skills/topics that meet the individual needs of the participants.
- I agree to use TPT as my primary resource book and to teach the Universal Blueprint® when calling myself a "Parents Toolshop® Advisor." I understand I can refer to other resources if they are consistent with TPT's skills and philosophies. Despite my personal beliefs, I will accurately present information from TPT and will endorse, model, and teach the Universal Blueprint's skills, principles and guidelines.
- I agree not to reproduce (photocopy or otherwise) the book or entire chapters. I understand I can make copies of the summary pages, worksheets, and the detailed house blueprint to give parents I am advising. I understand I cannot use these copies in full-length (10+ hours) Parents Toolshop classes as a replacement for the book or to avoid asking parents to read, borrow, or buy TPT.
- I agree to report and promptly submit any and all referral or service fee splits as outlined in the S&P manual.
- I agree to be an ethical, responsible, professional representative of TPT. I understand my certification can be revoked if I violate this agreement or violate Advisor standards, major TPT principles, or ethical professional practices.

Therefore, I hereby confirm my intent to be a professional and ethical Parent's Toolshop Advisor and abide by the current Code of Ethics outlined by my professional/credentialing board, NASW or State of Ohio Counselor and Social Worker Board, AND the "Advisor Code of Ethics" and all other policies outlined in the current edition of the "Standards and Practices Manual."
